CHAPTER I: PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURES

- A. Parliamentary Authority: The most current edition of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised shall be the parliamentary authority on all NDSA matters not otherwise addressed by the Constitution and Bylaws.
- B. General Exceptions to the Parliamentary Authority: The following general exceptions are to be made in reference to the parliamentary authority.
  - 1. Roll Call Votes: All main motions are to be done via recorded roll call vote without exception unless such a main motion is accepted by the Assembly without any objections. Electronic systems are acceptable for taking roll call votes. All subsidiary motions, as defined by the parliamentary authority, may be resolved with a voice vote unless either division is called or a request for a roll call vote is called; a roll call vote will then be taken for any subsidiary motion when either request is made by any member of the NDSA Assembly.
  - 2. Suspension of the Rules
    - a. Specific sections of these Bylaws may allow for their suspension through the suspension of the rules motion, and only those sections of the Bylaws may be suspended. If not specified, the vote required is a two-thirds majority.
    - b. Suspension of the rules can still be used normally as intended by the parliamentary authority for matters regarding the parliamentary authority itself and NDSA policies outside of the Constitution and Bylaws unless otherwise noted within those policies.
    - c. A motion may be made to request discussion on a suspension of the rules motion. Such a motion is not debatable and requires a two-thirds majority to pass. If it does pass, each speaker will only have 1 minute to speak and must remain strictly germane to the issue of suspending the rules.

CHAPTER II: POLICIES

- A. Formula for Determining the Number of Voting Delegates: The maximum number of voting delegates that a delegation can bring to NDSA will be determined by the following formula:

Each school shall receive four (4) voting representatives for the first one (1) to one thousand students (1000), third week end numbers (TWE). Each school shall then receive one extra voting representative for every one thousand (1000) TWE above one thousand (1000) using standard rounding. TWE shall be based on the fall third week end numbers as reported by the North Dakota University System (NDUS) office for graduate and undergraduate students.
- B. Membership Policies: The following is an extension of the membership provision of the Constitution to provide definitions and policies relating to each category of membership.
  - 1. Delegates from the NDUS Institutions: The student government associations (SGAs) from each NDUS institution may identify a delegation of voting and non-voting delegates to send to meetings of the NDSA Assembly.
    - a. The SGAs may designate up to a certain maximum number of students to serve as voting delegates on the behalf of the student voice of their respective institutions as defined by the delegate formula.
    - b. The SGAs may designate students to serve as non-voting delegates to represent those interests, and such non-voting delegates will be guaranteed the same speaking privileges as voting delegates.

- c. All chosen voting and non-voting delegates must be students of that institution, and they may represent only that institution at NDSA Assembly meetings.
2. Officers of NDSA – The officers of NDSA are considered members of the NDSA Assembly without needing to associate with a delegation.
3. Dual membership: It is possible for certain officers to also dually serve as delegates from their respective NDUS institutions if Chapter III or Chapter IV of the Bylaws allows for it for that particular role and if the SGAs of each institution chooses to recognize such officers as their delegates. Some of these officers may additionally be allowed to serve as voting delegates if allowed to do so by both the respective sections of the Bylaws and their respective SGAs.
- C. Participation in NDSA Assembly Meetings: Only recognized members of the NDSA Assembly may directly participate in meetings. Non-members of the NDSA Assembly may be afforded the right to speak on an issue during Public Comment or by being yielded time by a member.

Furthermore, legislation will be used as the official method to communicate any proposed amendments to the Constitution and Bylaws as well as the addition, nullification, or changes of any other NDSA policies.
  2. All legislation on the agenda of an NDSA Assembly meeting must be allowed an opportunity for consideration by the full NDSA Assembly provided it meets all notice requirements.
  3. Any legislation may be reviewed by a standing committee, and the standing committee may issue a recommendation in accordance with the procedures stated in Chapter VIII of the Bylaws. However, all legislation on the NDSA Assembly agenda must still be allowed an opportunity for consideration regardless of the recommendation made by the standing committee.
  4. Legislation requires greater than a sixty-percent vote by the NDSA Assembly for adoption unless the legislation proposes any of the following:
    - a. Amendments to the Constitution and Bylaws: Such legislation will be subject to the appropriate provisions in Article VIII of the Constitution and Chapter XIII of the Bylaws.

will be the presiding officer if present unless the President and Vice President of Finance and Operations jointly appoint another individual to serve as presiding officer. If the Vice President of Finance and Operations needs somebody else to assume the presiding officer duties in such a case, the Vice President of Finance and Operations can unilaterally appoint a replacement. If the Vice President of Finance and Operations is present while another individual is presiding over the NDSA Assembly meeting and while the President is absent, the Vice President of Finance and Operations may take control of the presiding officer duties again at will.

4. If both the President and Vice President of Finance and Operations are absent without appointing a presiding officer, the Head Delegates may caucus prior to the meeting and appoint a temporary presiding officer through a majority vote of the Head Delegates. If such a temporary presiding officer cannot preside over a part of a meeting, refer to the parliamentary authority on what to do in such a circumstance.
  5. The presiding officer, regardless of who holds the role, must remain impartial on all matters.
  6. The presiding officer, regardless of who holds the role, will be considered a non-voting member of the NDSA Assembly except to resolve tie votes.

CHAPTER V: FOR ELECTIONS

General Election Format

- A. Candidates running for any position shall be required to complete an election packet prior to the election and submit it to the President. The election packets will be distributed to all delegates prior to the election. This packet will ask for contact information, as well as questions of interest to the NDSA Assembly. This section of the Bylaws may be suspended by a two-thirds majority vote of the NDSA Assembly.
- B. Each candidate will be asked to give a speech before the assembly. This speech shall expound upon the questions asked in the election packet. All candidates not presently speaking will be asked to leave the room.
- C. After all candidates have given speeches, any candidates that are out of the room will be asked to enter again and stand before the NDSA Assembly to answer any questions. Questions must be asked directly to the candidates. Questions may be designated for all candidates or for some candidates. The question period is to be moderated by the presiding officer, and the presiding officer may choose who answers questions first when they are addressed to all candidates. Each answer may be no longer than one minute in length.
  - 1. For the elections of SBHE Nominees, Presidency, and Vice Presidency: The question period may not exceed 20 minutes for those positions unless this time is extended through the appropriate parliamentary procedure.
  - 2. For all other elections: The question period may not exceed 10 minutes for those positions unless time is extended through the appropriate parliamentary procedure.
- D. The NDSA Assembly will have the opportunity to discuss the candidates, and candidates will be asked to be out of the room Each NDSA Assembly member is limited to two speaking opportunities per elected position, with each speaking opportunity to be limited to three minutes. The discussion period for each elected position will be limited to 15 minutes unless this time is extended through the appropriate parliamentary procedure.

- E. All candidates will be asked to be back in the room for voting. Candidates may stay out of the room if desired. If the candidates are voting members of the NDSA Assembly, they may participate in voting. Alternatively, candidates that are voting members may appoint proxy voters to vote in their place as long as those proxy voters are present in the room. If a proxy voter is used, this must be clearly announced to the NDSA Assembly.
- F. Voting Procedures:
  - 1. If electronic voting methods are used, polls must be clearly and loudly announced when they are opened. Polls must be open for at least 20 seconds. A reminder of the voting options must be stated at least twice while the polls are open. Countdown of the final 5 seconds must be done loudly for the Assembly to hear.
  - 2. For voting for the SBHE nominees: Rounds of elimination voting where the candidate with the least votes will be removed from consideration until only three nominees remain. This will be conducted by taking a separate vote for each candidate where each voting delegate may vote “Yes” indicating their desire for that candidate to move on to the next round or “No” indicating their desire for that candidate to be eliminated from consideration. Each voting member of NDSA may vote affirmatively for up to three candidates in each round. It is acceptable to vote for less than three candidates, but voting affirmatively for more than three candidates will lead to disqualification of all of that voter’s choices for the particular round where more than three candidates were voted for in the affirmative. The candidate with the least amount of affirmative votes will be eliminated from further consideration. This will repeat until there are only three individuals left for consideration.
  - 3. For voting for all other candidates: All candidates will be presented on the ballot at the same time. If a simple majority is reached, then the election for that position is declared over and the majority vote receiver is declared the winner. If no candidate receives a majority, then the lowest vote recipient is removed from consideration and a revote occurs between the remaining candidates.
  - 4. If a suspected issue comes up with voting at any point, a redo of an election may be requested by a two-thirds majority of the NDSA Assembly without need for a reconsideration motion as long as the revote is requested within 15 minutes of the election. The suspected issue(s) must be announced to the NDSA Assembly before a vote to hold a redo of an election is held, and a good faith effort to correct the issues must be made by the pertinent parties. The NDSA Assembly, through the vote to redo an election, may specify procedures that may otherwise conflict with this election code in order to resolve perceived problems, but this privilege should be used carefully.
- G. In extreme circumstances, any procedure in this Chapter of the Bylaws may be suspended with a three-fourths majority vote. Regardless of the rule suspended, the Constitutional requirement of a simple majority vote for directly elected positions by the NDSA Assembly must be upheld.
